WB I-4 BETWEEN FAIRBANKS AVE AND PRINCETON ST SHIFTING AUGUST 4

The Florida Department of Transportation is shifting traffic on westbound Interstate 4 (I-4) between Fairbanks Avenue and Princeton Street to the old eastbound I-4 lanes as soon as the morning of Sunday, August 4, so crews can safely demolish and reconstruct the westbound lanes. This shift will also create a new westbound I-4 ramp system, parallel to mainline I-4. This changes westbound I-4 access points at Fairbanks Avenue, Par Street and Princeton Street. Motorists looking to exit onto Princeton Street will need to exit nearly a mile and a half sooner than the previous configuration.

Please see reverse for information on the various closures necessary to prepare the roadway for the new traffic pattern, beginning as early as 8 p.m. the night of Saturday, August 3.
