WB I-4 TRAVEL LANES AND INTERCHANGE RAMPS BETWEEN JOHN YOUNG PKWY. AND FLORIDA'S TURNPIKE SHIFTING TO NEW CONFIGURATION

All westbound Interstate 4 (I-4) travel lanes between John Young Parkway and Florida's Turnpike are shifting to a new configuration as soon as the morning of June 8. The shift restores the original ramp configurations at John Young Parkway and Conroy Road while eliminating the temporary separate ramp system. Nightly ramp closures are necessary to connect the new roadway with existing interchange ramps.

Please see reverse for additional information on the nightly ramp closures and detours preceding the shift.

NIGHTLY WB I-4 RAMP AND LANE CLOSURES BETWEEN JOHN YOUNG PARKWAY AND FLORIDA'S TURNPIKE BEGINNING AS SOON AS JUNE 7

The westbound Interstate 4 (I-4) entrance ramps from John Young Parkway, Conroy Road and Florida's Turnpike and westbound I-4 exit ramps to Conroy Road and Florida's Turnpike are closing as early as 10 p.m. on June 7 and reopening by 9 a.m. on June 8. However, not all ramps will be closed at the same time. Ramps using another closed ramp's detour route will remain open to allow for access while crews connect the ramps to the new lanes of westbound I-4. Multiple lanes closures on westbound I-4 also are necessary to assist with the construction activity.

These nightly closures are necessary to accommodate a shift of westbound I-4 between John Young Parkway and Florida's Turnpike. Please see reverse for more information.
